

Happy Thoughts for Happy Days is a series of short motivational stories with gardening tips. Parenting, life issues, relationships, gardening and weeding have many lessons in common. This book addresses real life challenges for living day to day and gives the real dirt on how to come up smelling like roses. Pam brings a moment of thoughtful clarity to the daily irritations, thorns and enemies to abundant joy in our lives. Her unique life lessons taught from her knees in the garden with dirt under her nails draws parables to real solutions. Walk with her through her memorial garden as she experiences parenting, relationship issues, burying pets, raising teens, patriotism, empty nesting, and learning to live life abundantly in spite of the world of hard knocks. Her pain and success teaches us all how to play in the dirt, shovel manure and bloom prolifically.
