(Not that the world is a boxing ring, but you know what I mean!) And I also want to be that person for someone else who needs encouragement, support and accountability in order to reach his or her goals and dreams. Success coaches are people who partner with people, seeing them as perfect and knowing where their potential could lead. In short, you will reach success as you define it by coaching others to their own level of success. You are a success coach. You have what it takes to lead someone to greatness " you just haven't yet unpacked the tools you need to get the job done. This book will not replace experiential training in how to be a coach.
